That there have been great elimatic is well known. But, though geologists can tell us that they have occurred they do not tell us why. Some of them have possibly come to pass since man attained sufficient intelligence to hand down from generation to generation traditions concerning their origin. These traditions, arising when the human fancy was untrammeted by fact them of perpetual sunshine and substituting the dreary arctic night:

"Time was when the sun, which now bides himself beyond the southern ocean for many months in winter, cireled always above the northern horizon. As it is now night for many menths, it was then always day, for by an expedition fitted out by flerbert ern part of the country, where all the at midnight the sun still stood above the harizon. Then our mantle, instead of the white one it now is, was a perpetual green. Our people lived on Inscious fruits that grew without culture and bathed in the tepid waves that danced lightly on the straud. In those days they knew only happiness.

"But one day when some were making merry under the green trees and others were sportlyg in the waves a canoe white as the snow amid which we now live was discovered far out at sea, now gently raised on the crest of a bellow, now sinking out of sight; but slowly drifting toward the land.

"Awestruck, the people waited on the verge till the white canoe reached the sands, and there within it, infoided in a robe of ermine, lay a maiden whose skin was fair and whose hair fell over her shoulders like rivulets of sunshine. The chief stood where the canoe touched the beach and, stooping, took the maiden in his arms, carried her up to a grassy slope and asked:

Then ar apcestors, who had lived under the trees, fearing no frost, were obliged to build buts to protect them from the cold. The warm waves in which they had bathed became ky cold, then bardened. The people, bereft of the fruits of the earth exposed to the cold, died in great numbers. But the spirit that deprived us of them sent the white bear and the walrus, and we are obliged to bunt them in order to statin ourselves with their meat and warm our bodies by burning their oll. THE AMOUNT INCREASED

There Was a Gain of 47 Per Cent, in Total Production Over What Was Mined in 1907-Asbestos Trade is Growing Stronger.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3 .- All the asbestos mined and sold in the United States in 1908 was mined in Georgia and Vermont, and the total output of the various grades was 936 short tons, an increase from 1907 of over 42 per cent. The total value of the output of refined asbestos in 1908 was $19,624, as compared with $11.889 in 1907, an increase of 64 per cent. According to the report on asbestos by J. S. Diller in the "Mineral resources" series of the United States geological survey for 1908, the increase in value thus indicated is due to the greater production than ever before of chrysotile, the variety of fibrous mineral which is best adapted to textile processes and commands the highest prices. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of autrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.
